HOSPITAL ON LIST OF BEST

ONE HERE AGAIN IS APPROVED BY COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.

FEW OUTSIDE CITIES

Maryville Is One of Nine Places in State—and the Smallest—With Approved Institution.

The St. Francis Hospital of Maryville is an approved hospital for the year 1926, according to an official announcement of the American College of Surgeons made today at Montreal, Canada, at the Hospital Conference of the Clinical Congress of American College of Surgeons. Outside of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, the hospital here is one of eight hospitals in Missouri on this list, the others being located at Columbia, Independence, Cape Girardeau, Joplin and Jefferson City.

The St. Francis Hospital here has been on the approved list for the last several years.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, Director General of the American College of Surgeons, addressing the meeting at Montreal today stated in part:

"The American College of Surgeons greatly appreciates this opportunity of officially presenting to the people of the United States and Canada the list of approved hospitals of 35 beds and over. These hospitals have adopted the fundamental requirements for the right care of the patient and the broadest community service, as provided for in the minimum standard requirements laid down by the American College of Surgeons, an international organization charged with the responsibility of the great movement known as Hospital Standardization.

"The right care of the patient comes first in every hospital. Years of investigation and study has proved to the American College of Surgeons that this can only be assured through the acceptance and carrying out of the principles as laid down in Hospital Standardization, embodied in which are the six great fundamental principles upon which rests our responsibility to the patient—organization, coordination, cooperation, efficiency, economy and service.

"It is true that the hospital has become a part of the social life of our people. It is becoming increasingly used from day to day, and 12,000,000 or more persons are hospitalized annually. The demands made on the hospital have increased correspondingly through the more discriminating public, the to-be nurses and the interne when choosing a hospital, and educational, financial and governmental organizations when seeking affiliations or financial support.

"It is hardly conceivable that any community should be content with a hospital which has not been awarded this recognition as a public assurance that it fully recognizes its responsibility to the patient, the student nurse, the young doctor, and the community at large. If every hospital in the United States and Canada were operated strictly under Hospital Standardization requirements there would be at least a saving of 24,000,000 hospital days for the 12,000,000 patients, as compared with conditions prevailing prior to 1918, when the Hospital Standardization movement commenced. Further, the hospital death rate under the same conditions would be reduced on the average 15 to 20 per cent. Both from the economic and humanitarian standpoints the citizens of two great countries cannot turn a deaf ear to this movement, and each community must assume the responsibility of seeing that its hospital is meeting the requirements and on the approved list.

"Hospital Standardization is a great responsibility, and it should appeal to everyone who is interested in the better care of the patient. The smaller hospitals have been seriously handicapped because the College has been unable, for financial reasons, to survey them and give them the advice and assistance they so much desire. The College must continue its work among the larger hospitals, but must also endeavor in some way to finance the survey of the smaller institutions. Their importance in the United States and Canada is shown in the fact that of the hospitals between 25 and 50 bed capacity, more than 1500 in number, represent 47 percent of the total active hospitals, with beds aggregating 48,728. Many of these could easily qualify as approved hospitals. The only reason they are not in this list is because of the increased expenses that

TWO PARTIES, 1 COURTROOM

BOTH WANT IT SO COUNTY COURT LAYS DOWN LAW.

DEMOCRATS AT NIGHT

Republicans Granted Saturday Afternoon, But Decide on Theater Instead.

The county court, in session this morning, decided that hereafter and as long as the present court has anything to do with it, organizations, political and otherwise, wishing to use the circuit court room must apply to the court for permission. This new rule was adopted as the result of a "mix-up" in regard to the use of the court house next Saturday by both the Republicans and Democrats.

The court, after hearing from E. C. Curfman, chairman of the Republican county committee, and Ellis G. Cook, representing Charles F. McCaffrey, chairman of the Democratic county committee, voted two to one to let the Democrats have the courthouse for their meeting Saturday night. Judge Charles S. Armstrong and Judge J. N. Billingsley voted for the Democrats to have the use of the court house, while Judge E. T. Bailey, presiding judge, voted against it.

Mr. Cook contended that shortly after the primary election, he spoke to Henry Thorp, janitor at the courthouse, for the use of the court house Saturday afternoon and night before the general election. He says that for years past the janitor has had the letting of the courthouse. Thorp made a notation for the meetings but nothing was said about them to the court.

Mr. Curfman filed his request for the use of the courthouse with Judge Bailey several weeks ago for the same day. Judge Bailey spoke to his associates on the bench and as they knew then of no other meetings to be held on that date, it was decided to let the Republicans have the court room. Afterwards it was discovered that both parties thought they had the room for political meetings, and the court called the meeting today to decide the matter.

Democrats Waive Afternoon.

Mr. Cook said the Democrats at first did not know whether they would have a meeting on Saturday afternoon, and that due to some misunderstanding, the committee waived its right to the use of the room for that afternoon.

Mr. Curfman contended he had taken up the matter with the regular authorities and that he spoke to Judge Bailey first.

Judge Bailey, in announcing his vote, said that the court was the custodian of the court house and as Mr. Curfman had spoken first for the use of it, he should have it. Judges Armstrong and Billingsley, announcing their votes, took the position that the Democrats had spoke about the courthouse shortly after the primary and some time before the Republicans had, and that the fact that the janitor did not say anything tute grounds for denying them the use, about it to the court, should not constias they would have seen the proper authorities about it if they had known whom to see.

The Republicans were given the courthouse for an afternoon meeting Saturday, but announced late this afternoon that both afternoon and night meetings will be held at the Missouri Theater, according to E. C. Curfman, county chairman. Thus the Democrats will have both meetings Saturday in the court house.

A. B. Brown and J. A. Logan of Burlington Junction were business visitors in Maryville today.

FROM BORDER TO AID AIMEE

ARIZONA CITIZENS ARRIVE TO TESTIFY FOR EVANGELIST.

PICTURES OF SHACKS

Defense Also To Show Photographs Of Footprints.—Sermon Last Night On "Shoes."

Los Angeles, Oct. 25.—A delegation of citizens from the border country near Douglas, Ariz., arrived here today to testify for Aimee Semple McPherson at her hearing on charges of perpetrating a hoax.

The Arizona witnesses carried photographs of desert footprints and desert shacks taken in the Sonora country twenty miles south of Agua Prieta, Mexico, where Mrs. McPherson dramatically reappeared last June after a five-weeks unexplained absence from Angelus temple. Any one of the photographed shacks might have been the desert hovel in which the evangelist was held captive by kidnappers, the defense contends, and the footprints, it is maintained, were none other than those of Mrs. McPherson.

Testimony of the border characters is expected to bolster the defense theory that Mrs. McPherson, after her escape from "kidnappers," tracked twenty miles across the desert to Agua Prieta where she sought refuge with a Mexican couple.

State's witnesses have testified that woman's footprints were traced within a mile or two of Agua Prieta, but no further. It was testified by prosecution witnesses also that those footprints, which compared with shoes worn by the evangelist, were accompanied by automobile tracks and that the imprints all indicated Mrs. McPherson had been driven to the desert to stage her "escape" from "kidnappers."

Mrs. McPherson is determined to prove she actually hiked twenty miles across the Sonora desert country and in her sermon "Shoes" last night, she touched on this angle of the current hearing.

Besides the witnesses from the desert, there were a number of new arrivals from San Francisco and Carmel-by-the-Sea, it was said, to explode the state's theory that Mrs. McPherson was with her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, during the period she claims to have been in the hands of kidnappers.

Welfare Board Here Is in Need of Funds

Many Calls Coming In For Aid But No Money Is On Hand To Purchase Supplies, Hooker Says.

Calls for food, clothing, and fuel are coming in daily from Maryville's poverty stricken, but the welfare board has no money to buy provisions for these needy persons, according to a statement this morning by Hal T. Hooker, president of the board.

"The time has come when we must decide whether or not the welfare board is to continue," Mr. Hooker said. "The welfare board does not receive nor does it expect any compensation for its services more than the knowledge of help to our fellowmen.

"However, members of the board do not feel that it should be a begging or soliciting institution. If they give of their time to investigate and distribute aid to those of our city in distress, available funds should be placed in the hands of the welfare board to meet the requirements.

"The question arises, where are these funds to come from? Years before, they have come from the few. Shall the same few continue to help the needy while many in their comforts give no thought of the struggles encountered by the board in its efforts to make ends meet.

"It appears that it might be well for the different organizations of our city to appoint committees to solicit funds at once if the needs of our poor are to be met. A thousand dollars or more is needed to carry the unfortunate through the winter. What shall the answer be?"

To Funeral at Mound City.

Mrs. Theodore Miller, accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Ova Griffin and Miss Frances Miller, went to Mound City today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Miller's brother, Thomas Officer, who died at his home there Saturday.

MAY REWARD 3 PRISONERS

CLEMENCY TO BE ASKED FOR SAVING GUARDS.

JAIL BREAK AVERTED

Seven Inmates of Missouri Prison Make Unsuccessful Dash for Liberty After Dinner Yesterday.

Jefferson City, Oct. 25.—Executive clemency was asked today for three prisoners who probably saved the lives of three guards during an attempted jail break at the Missouri state prison here yesterday.

The attempted break was made by seven prisoners, all of whom were injured, two critically. One guard suffered severe stab wounds.

The dash occurred after dinner, as the men were being brought back to their cells. Seven prisoners suddenly broke ranks and overpowered two guards, J. T. Wynes and A. K. Wekenberg. Two of the rioters were shot down and probably fatally wounded, while the other five rushed the tuberculosis hospital where they were resisted by J. Fleeman, guard.

Fleeman's life was probably saved by Oliver Cooper, 47, trusty, who entered the fight on his behalf. Cooper wielded a chair to such advantage that the five prisoners fled to the twine factory, which they held for two hours in spite of tear gas bombs which were thrown at frequent intervals. Finally, six guards entered the factory by a rear door and fired at the rioters, who, by this time, had taken refuge behind a pile of rags. All surrendered, wounded.

In addition to Cooper, clemency was asked for two unnamed prisoners, who likely saved the lives of Wynes and Wekenberg by rushing to their rescue at the outbreak of the riot.

Leslie Rudolph, acting warden, said he feared for the lives of the two prisoners who came to the aid of the guards should he reveal their names.

Jefferson City, Oct. 25.—Governor Baker is expected to grant a parole to Oliver Cooper, negro convict, who went to the aid of a prison guard yesterday when seven convicts made a break to escape.

Mayor Garrett Is Strong For Red Cross Drive

"A statement regarding the worthiness of the Red Cross is unnecessary," Mayor W. O. Garrett declared today.

"The efficient and thoughtful handling of the funds taken by public subscription assures the giver to the Red Cross that his donation will be used to the wisest and best advantage," the mayor continued. "Perhaps we haven't seen the outstanding work of the Red Cross here in Maryville, recently, but that's because we have been lucky enough not to have a disaster. One has only to read the papers to see what the Red Cross has been doing in the flooded and tornado struck dictricts."

would be incurred by the survey. This, as everyone connected with a hospital that is on the list can realize, is a tragedy that cannot be overestimated. Is there not someone, among the people of means in the United States or Canada vitally interested in hospitals, who would be willing to finance this great work? The survey of the larger institutions must go on, with its considerable overhead that is already assumed and which would not be increased materially by the added cost necessary to visit the smaller hospitals. The College is in a position to do this additional work with the greatest economy and efficiency, having not the entire field set-up, if the means for financing the work are available.

"In assuming the responsibility of providing a minimum standard for hospitals the American College of Surgeons fully realized that it was undertaking a task which would be of universal interest and benefit, based, as it was, on improving hospital service for the patient. This has happened. Today every citizen of the United States and Canada is directly or indirectly benefitting from this movement. No task has given the Board of Regents more genuine satisfaction than carrying the standard into effect.

"The annual survey embraces active general and special hospitals of 35 beds and over in the United States, Canada and other countries, numbering this year 2,528. This group includes the federal hospitals of the United States Army, Navy, Public Health Service, Veterans Bureau, National Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, and a number of institutions in other countries. The list as announced this morning shows a healthy growth from 692 hospitals surveyed in 1918, with only 89 or 12.9 per cent approved or meeting the requirements, to 2,528 surveyed in 1926 with 1,731 or 68.5 percent approved—a most gratifying result."

This and That

It seems as if Sunday nights were just made to "reminisce." Last night school days were taken out and given a chance to revive themselves. Ralph Yeble told about how the University of Missouri band was ready to make an extensive trip when he was in school there and he did want to go, although he was not a member of the organization.

"I found out that the band needed a bass horn player," he said. "I went down the day the party left, got the job and made the trip. I played at the big meetings in Kansas City and other places where we went and—no, I didn't know how to play a bass horn. I had never touched one before, but it was easy."

The Rev. W. N. Dewar, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was the "whole show" yesterday. He not only delivered the sermon, but sang the special number at the beginning of the services. Versatile.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Noid celebrated their first wedding anniversary this week-end.

Maryville residents will have no excuse for being hungry this winter with all the new cafes and "eating joints" recently opened.

"What's the score?" asked a feminine voice on the telephone at the Democrat-Forum Saturday.

"Nothing to nothing," was the reply.

"Who's ahead?" the sweet little voice inquired.

Blind Woman's Poem Sent Out to Schools

Miss Anna Owens, Braille Expert Wrote Lines Being Taught To Children Over The County.

Copies of Miss L. Anna Owens' poem, "Red Cross Song," adapted, for singing to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia," have been sent out to schools over the county and the poem is being taught to the pupils. Miss Owens is the blind proof reader of the braille work done by the Nodaway County Chapter of the Red Cross and lives here part of the time. She is at this time living in the southern part of the state.

The Poem follows:

By Miss Anna Owens, Maryville, Mo.
Tune: "Marching Through Georgia."

Victims of disaster, the Red Cross hastens to
With cheer and aid and comfort and with sympathy so true.
She is ever ready the master's work to do,
For she's an angel of mercy.

CHORUS

Come on, come on and join the Red Cross now,
Come on, come on and join the Red Cross, all.
She's a mother who will aid you when disasters fall,
For she is waiting to serve you.

Our sailor boys and soldier wounded
sore in limb or soul,
She kindly shields and shelters within her loving fold.
And gives them faith and courage to seek some worthy goal.
For she's an angel of mercy.

CHORUS

The health of little children, the Red Cross seeks to save
By guarding paths of error beset with dangers grave,
To stay the white plague's progress she's battled long and brave
For she's an angel of mercy.

CHORUS

The Junior Red Cross children, a happy, helpful troop,
Are marching bravely onward, five million, fully, strong.
"I serve" their daily slogan, "I serve" their battle song,
For they are angels of mercy.

CHORUS

The Red Cross heart would mother, would mother all mankind,
In peace or war she labors its cruel hurts to bind;
Nor creed nor cast shall fetter the freedom of her mind,
For she's an angel of mercy.

Erase the word you do not wish to vote.	Erase the word you do not wish to vote.	Erase the word you do not wish to vote.	Erase the word you do not wish to vote.	Erase the word you do not wish to vote.

Instructions to Voters

On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone to one of the voting booths so provided, and shall prepare his ballot for voting in the following manner:

Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name.

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote.

If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of the person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name.

Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name, automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate name.

All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns; if two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted.

If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other.

A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form.

It shall not be lawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner nor to erase any printed name (except as provided above in this section,) figure, word or letter therefrom, nor to erase any mark made thereon by such voter, nor inclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter deface or tear a ballot, or wrongly mark the name or make an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to the ballot clerk the one so defaced or wrongly marked.

A ballot placed in the ballot box without any mark shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter shall place a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office none of the candidates shall be deemed to have been voted for and the ballots shall not be counted for either such candidate.

Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then hand the ballot to the judge of election selected to take ballots, who shall number the ballot and deposit it in the ballot box.

The voter shall quit and leave said enclosed place as soon as possible.

Birth Registration Law to Be Displayed

Posters To Be Placed In Various Postoffices In Missouri Calling Attention To Benefits.

Birth and death registration in Missouri will receive a new impetus this month. Through cooperation of the United States Census Bureau and the Postmaster General, the State Department of Health will have placed in post offices throughout the state a poster containing extracts from the state law and a summary of reasons why the registration of births and deaths is important for the individual, the state and the nation.

Missouri with perfectly adequate laws since 1909, has never succeeded in registering 90 per cent of the births occurring in the state, and for this reason has not been accepted in the National Registration Area. This exclusion deprives the state of any recognition in national statistics. At the present time, the state registers sixty-eight thousand births a year, but there is little doubt that twelve thousand more unregistered births occur every year. The present effort is the beginning of a crusade which Dr. James Stewart, the State Registrar and Health Commissioner, proposes waging until every child born in Missouri has been registered and given the personal and national protection which the children of other states enjoy.

The local registrars, of whom there are 960 throughout the state are responsible for the completeness of registration within their districts. They try to stimulate earlier and more complete birth reporting by physicians, midwives, and parents, who under the law, are responsible for the registration of births. As a last resort it may be necessary to prosecute the few who are wilfully delinquent and refuse to discharge their moral and legal responsibility in protecting the rights of babies.

Rain Damages Roads $500,000

Heavy rains throughout Northern and Central Missouri during the last few weeks have caused more than $500,000 damage to roads in the state highway system, through slides, undermining of earth fills, washing of surfaces and washouts of small bridges and culverts, Chief Highway Engineer B. H. Piepmeier, stated in Jefferson City recently.

Damage to county roads in those sections of the state probably will exceed the $500,000 estimate for the state roads alone, Piepmeier said. Several counties have reported heavy damage to their roads from washing of surfaces, slides and washouts of bridges and culverts.

Mrs. H. C. Butts of Chillicothe, who has been the guest of her son, George C. Butts, and Mrs. Butts, left this morning for Gallatin, where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Mary Powell, and other relatives, for a week en route home.

The ladies of the Christian Church will serve dinner election day in the Price building. The menu will be as follows: Chicken and noodles, mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, apple salad, cold slaw, pickles and jellies, pie and coffee.

Mrs. Reid Council, accompanied by her father, L. K. Russell, left Thursday morning for a short visit with relatives in Onawa and Sioux City, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wilson entertained Wednesday at a 12 o'clock dinner at their beautiful home in Graham. The special feature of the dinner was roast wild ducks killed by John Wilson and Sam Cole. Besides the host and hostess the following people were present, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mowry, Dr. Lofter and Mrs. Lofter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mountjoy, Supt. and Mrs. Chas. W. Wallace and daughter, Mary Virginia, and Mr. Wallace's mother, Mrs. Laura Wallace of Clearmont, Mo.

The Loyal Hustler's Class of the Christian Church will entertain the other members of the Christian Church at a Hallow'en party, Friday, Oct. 29, in the Price building. Everyone is asked to come masked or pay a fine. Doughnuts served from a poker, pumpkin pie and coffee will be served. All members are urged to be present.

The Ladies Aid of the Christian Church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ralph Scott to work on the quilts which they are making for the Orphan's Home. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Chas. Wallace.

Lay aside that dime for membership in the P. T. A. Next week the school children will call on you asking you to join. All patrons of the district are invited to become members and to attend the meetings held at the school house on the last Tuesday of each month. Come and see what splendid programs we are giving and the fine interest manifested, and you will not miss a single meeting.

The VANITY CASE

NEA FICTION

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is iscussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping the stairs after the murder, and Mott, questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

Cunningham gets a note from Anderson and goes to his house where Perry Heath suddenly appears out of the night and begins to talk.

Anderson invites Cunningham to his house and there, while waiting for his host, Cunningham is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who disappears as mysteriously as he had appeared. Shortly afterward, Anderson comes in, and he reproahes Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

TODHUNTER BUCK, who is in love with Bunny, is a witness to a nocturnal meeting between the girl and Heath. He tries to get Bunny to explain and when she refuses he calls in his friend, STEVE TRUITT, a famous detective. Bunny tells Truitt she had gone downstairs the night of the murder and seen Myra Heath, not yet cold in death, and Inman peeping from behind a curtain.

Truitt questions Inman and then, inspecting the Heath home, discovers something peculiar about a window. He then rejoins Buck and the latter's aunt, MRS. PRENTISS.

Truitt arranges for a meeting with Sam Anderson. He then takes Buck with him and enters the Heath Bungalow by a French window, saying Heath will come in shortly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV.

Once in, and adjured to silence Tod merely watched while Truitt noiselessly closed and locked the French window, and then stationed Tod behind a good-sized screen that was across a corner of the studio. He gave him a fairly comfortable chair, though not a large one, and then he ruthlessly cut an eye-hole in the screen at the right height for Tod's eye while he was seated in the chair.

Nodding in satisfaction, Steve whispered that his purpose, as Truitt hoped it would.

"No matter what happens, don't make a move until I do," and then, afraid lest he might not be implicitly obeyed, he added, solemnly, "Bunny's life may depend on your absolute silence."

This stretched the long bow a little, but it served its purpose, as Truitt hoped it would.

Then he took up his own position which was inside the folds of a long drapery curtain, that hung over a little used window. In this he also cut a small peephole, and the vigil began.

Truitt had dared a low light to make these preparations, but he had turned that off and they were now in total darkness. His greatest fear was that Tod would fall asleep, but he banked his hopes on the word he had passed about Bunny, and trusted that the hint would keep the boy awake.

Although it seemed hours, it was not so very long before a faint noise was heard at the window whereby they had entered.

Both men were alert, watching and absolutely silent.

Accustomed now to the darkness, and because of a faint bit of light from the waning moon, they saw a tiny diamond shaped pane move from its place in the window on the east terrace, not a French window, a small window with latticed upper sash.

This pane came out entirely, removed by a hand outside, whose fingers showed dully pink against the panes.

The pane out, a whole hand came through and easily turned the window fastening, after which, the window was slowly and cautiously raised.

Had Truitt been less imperative Tod could scarcely have withstood an exclamation, as a man's leg came over the sill, followed by the rest of his anatomy.

It was Perry Heath. Though not closely acquainted, Tod had seen him before and recognized him at once. He knew the long lock of hair over his forehead that he was continually throwing back, for Heath took off his hat as soon as he was inside.

Then, stepping to the door of the lounge, he listened intently for a moment, and, apparently satisfied, closed the door very softly, and turned on a small desk light.

Tod hoped his aunt was not having an insomnia attack, for she would certainly see that, and perhaps give an alarm.

But he had no time for thought, the sight of the man was too thrilling for that.

Heath, first of all, went to the bookshelves, took down a small volume and thrust it in his pocket, with a nod of decided satisfaction.

That done, he seemed about to leave, but paused and gazed about the room as if taking note of its contents.

He opened a large paintbox, and looked at it contemplatively, then closed with a little sigh.

On the desk, beneath the lamp he had lighted, stood Myra's picture, a minature in a velvet frame. This he picked up and gazed on for a long time. Then he sighed again, and it would seem was about to leave.

But as he stepped toward the window, Truitt came out from his hiding place, and snapping on a full light, said:

"Mr. Heath, I believe."

"Good Lord!" said Perry Heath, petulantly, rather than frightened, "and who are you?"

"Oh, I'm Truitt, the detective."

"You are. And what are you doing here?"

"I'm just detecting around a little. Come out, Tod."

Tod Buck came out of his corner, wondering what would happen next.

"So there are two of you," Heath said, meditatively. "I might have managed one."

"I know," and Steve nodded, "that's why I provided two. Now, Mr. Heath, have you any objections to going with me to the police headquarters?"

"Why—to be honest, I have. But I daresay they will be overruled."

"They most certainly will be. So we'll just consider it settled that we'll go along. Will you go what is called quietly, or shall we call Mr. Inman to go along and help us keep the peace."

"Don't drag him in, for Heaven's sake. I'll toddle along with you boys—I don't really mind going, you know."

"No, I suppose not. Come on, then."

"I say, Heath," put in Tod, who so far had been silent, "why does Bunny stand up so for you?"

"I suppose she thinks I did the killing. I didn't, you know, Larry did. But Bunny would stand up for either of us, or both of us—she's that sort."

"Then did Mr. Inman put that make-up on your wife's face?" This from Truitt.

"How do I know? If he killed her, he must have done it."

"Mr. Heath, have you no resentment toward the man you say killed your wife? Have you no desire to see him brought to justice? No wish to have him punished? You loved your wife, do you want her death avenged?"

Heath looked at him in silence a moment, and then said, quite calmly: "I'll talk at headquarters, but I won't talk here. Come on, let's get along."

The others were quite willing, and putting out the lights Truitt marshaled his crowd out, He was not afraid of Heath's getting away, for both Tod and himself were husky chaps, and more than a match for one alone.

"No use restoring the putty pane—" Truitt said, pausing a moment at the window.

"Oh, yes, might as well," and with a deft movement of his long, slender hands, Heath manipulated the pane into place, pressed the putty round it, and left it looking as if it had not been touched.

"Clever dodge, that," said Tod, with enforced admiration.

"It's been like that a long time," Heath said, carelessly. "I've always kept soft putty on it, and nobody noticed."

"Bunny did," said Tod.

"Yes, she did. I can't think now how she happened to," and Heath again assumed that peevish tone, that meant some of his plans had gone wrong.

The walk to headquarters, of course, took them over the bridge and for a short distance on the Park side of the Harbor.

Also, they passed the Country Club, and Heath stopping suddenly, said:

"I say, I wish you fellows would stop here with me a minute. I want to get some letters I left in my locker. You can keep your eye on me, you know."

FARM GLIMPSES

By BILLY TILSON

Wayne Cooper, southwest of town, has sixty acres of ground ready for sowing wheat and will get it in this week if weather will permit.

E. E. Hackett of Burlington Junction shipped in a fine load of feeders to take the place of some he shipped out lately.

William Alexander, south of Hopkins, purchased twenty-five head of steers at the sale pavilion in Maryville Saturday. He will run them on grass until late fall before putting them in his feed lot.

O. A. Pistole, south of Hopkins, took home twenty-six head of fine steers which will be put on grass. Mr. Pistole says he never saw fall pastures much better at this time of the year and stock will go up to the close of the year without much feed.

O. P. Bogart of Clyde will be 87 years old the 27th of this month. He moved to a farm near Clyde in 1867, farmed for several years, then moved to Clyde, turning the farm over to the boys who have been very successful in the farming line. Mr. Bogart is hale and hearty for one of his years but says when you have that many years hanging over you that you don't want to be crowded with your work.

George Burnett of Clyde has a small chicken ranch in that town. He has raised and sold around 1500 and has 250 to 300 left. He has a fine modern chicken house in which to care for them and says he not only finds it a pleasant business but a profitable one.

Dal Owens, southwest of Maryville, sustained a broken arm Thursday afternoon by being kicked by a horse. The bone was badly splintered. It will be some time before he will be able to do any work beside the pain and inconvenience.

J. D. Gates and son, northeast of Ravenwood, sold around fifty head of fine boars at the sale pavilion Saturday. Mr. Gates raises the good ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker and children, Junior and Margaret, accompanied by Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hardin of Stanberry, spent the week-end in Moberly. They were guests of Mrs. Baker's brother, C. W. Hardin, and her sisters, Mrs. J. V. Boulware and Mrs. R. M. Rucker. Mr. and Mrs. Hardin returned to their home in Stanberry this morning after a visit at the Baker home.

Visits Business College.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Byers of Burlington Junction spent Thursday in Chillicothe visiting their son Jack who is attending the Chillicothe Business College and while there attended the big Homecoming football game between the Business College and Kemper Military Academy which resulted in a 3 to 0 victory for C. B. C.

Mr and Mrs. Ray Boyer and son David also of Burlington Junction also attended the Homecoming activities of the Chillicothe Business College and while there were guests of their son and brother Ralph who is also enrolled at that institution.

Billy Lamkin's Body To Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin will leave tomorrow morning with the body of their son, Billy Lamkin, for Clinton, Mo., where burial will take place. The young man died last Monday morning following a brief illness.

Free Rides for Marie Arouses Ia. Candidate

Cherokee, Ia., Oct. 25.—Railroads should give more consideration to farmers than to the crowned heads of Europe, in the opinion of Claude R. Porter, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Iowa.

In a recent address Porter flayed the railroads for furnishing the Queen of Rumania with free transportation while she tours the country.

"Want to say frankly that I oppose this act of the railroads in furnishing free transportation to Queen Marie and her royal party while the farmers of Iowa are paying the high freight rates of farm produce that they now are assessed.

"If railroads can afford to haul the royal families of Europe around this country free of charge, then they can afford to lower the freight traffic on the products of the royal American farmers.

"Farmers should come ahead of the Russo-German princess, this section of the house of Hoenzollern, when productions in railroad costs are being considered," Porter said.

Jarvis Bush, a student at the University of Missouri, returned to Columbia yesterday after a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bush.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Selling pressure was felt in all pits of the Chicago Board of Trade today and caused a lower close.

Wheat was nervous, fluctuating rapidly within a 2-cent range. Canadian receipts continued to be large but much of the grain at Winnipeg was of very poor quality. Cash prices were unchanged and futures closed ¾ to 1½ lower than Saturday.

Corn was under more or less pressure all day. Cash prices were ¾ to 1¼ lower while futures were ⅛ to ½ cent off.

Oats maintained a steady tone throughout a dull session. Cash prices were ¼ to ½ lower but futures were unchanged.

Provisions closed higher.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

SPOOFHOUNDS TAKE DUCKING

LAFAYETTE PROVES BEST AT AQUATIC FOOTBALL.

GAME WON BY A PASS

Final Score, After Mud Is Washed Off, Is Found To Be 6-0.—Maryville Hurt By Penalties.

They Won't Float.

"I'm praying for dry weather because my boys don't float well," is the way Coach C. W. Croy of the Maryville High School put it, commenting today on the football game played in St. Joseph Saturday and hoping for better weather for the game to be played here Friday with Trenton.

"I sincerely hope the High School means business next Friday," the coach said. "Don't wait until Friday to talk the game up. Do it now. Let's start our pep to going."

In a football game more fittingly described as an aquatic carnival, the Spoofhounds of Maryville High School slipped and slid to a 6-0 defeat Saturday at the hands of Lafayette High School of St. Joseph.

The teams splashed about on fairly even terms until late in the fourth quarter, when a Lafayette player hurled a forward pass with the mud-daubed pigskin and another St. Joseph player grasped the slippery oval, held it with death-like grip and sloshed over the goal line. The try for goal failed.

Four or five times the Spoofhounds carried the ball within five yards or so of the goal line, but each time the advance was halted by penalties. After the St. Joseph touchdown they carried the ball from the Maryville 30-yard line to the Lafayette 35-yard line before the final whistle blew.

The Spoofhounds started the game in tired outfit, due to a gruelling trip over muddy roads, during which they were called upon several times to get out and push. They arrived in St. Joseph at 2:30 p.s.m., and went directly to the football field.

Identification Difficult.

For the details of the splashing match, the following account by Jerry Thrailkill in the St. Joseph Gazette may be read:

Earl Liebig and Leslie Hogue late yesterday afternoon were positively identified as the two Lafayette gridmen who figured in the forward pass that served the double purpose of giving them their first touchdown and first victory of the season.

Identification came after their Missouri river uniforms had been removed and three cans of Old Dutch Cleanser had been used in scrubbing the accumulation of League park grime from their bodies. The verified score: Lafayette, 6; Maryville, 0.

There was no cheering when umpire Hopkins wiped the mud from his mouth and tooted a final blast on his whistle—no one knew who to cheer for, and being fearful of cheering for the wrong team all were silent.

"Would Kiss Dirty Faces."

"If I thought Lafayette scored that touchdown," remarked a shivering spectator, "I would kiss every one of those dirty faces."

Referee Vivian Marsh, with a warm-up jacket and cap attached, cap pulled down over his ears and head, looked like Roald Amundsen, the arctic explorer. His white trousers—white before the game started—gave one the impression that he was wading waist deep in snow. It took an explorer to find the ball after a scrimmage was completed.

Marsh was nonplussed in the early part of the game when he called for a towel to wipe off the football only to find that the game was being played with a discarded helmet. Players were handicapped by not knowing which team to line up with, but so far as known, no one was discovered playing on the opposing side.

Coach Murphy's strategy in sending his swimming team in to start the game while his regular dry land squad of gridders warmed the bench was the contributing factor in the victory. Few of the Maryville players boasted of channel experience, though many of them could qualify after the struggle was over.

Kissinger Is "Trudie."

"Trudie" Kissinger of the Maryville squad was the only one of the team who showed to any advantage in the aquatic carnival. He dived into the line, under the line, swam under water part of the time and paddled through for substantial gains all through the game.

The most outstanding part of the game is the laundry bill which will be presented to the athletic department of Lafayette high school. Roughly estimated, it follows:

Eleven uniforms	$11.00
Towels	.65
Old Dutch Cleanser	.15
New football	10.00
Viv Marsh's white trousers	.50
Shoeshine for David Hopkins	.10
Total	$22.40

Penalties were numerous throughout the game with both teams suffering such misdemeanors as throwing mud, holding players too long under water, ducking and using paddles. The line-ups vouched for by the coaches of both teams:

Lafayette (6)	Pos.	Maryville (0)
Bell	LE	Mumma
Farnham	LT	Howard
Reimer	LG	New
Hoover	C	Smith
Stafford	RG	Thompson
Smith	RT	Hall
Parker	RE	Alsup
Liebig	Q	Holt
Brown	LH	Kissinger
Blum	RH	Wilson
Hogue	FB	Keever

Summary: Lafayette scoring: touchdown, Hogue; officials: Marsh, referee; Hopkins, umpire; Creek, head linesman.

Substitutions: Maryville: Stanfield for Keever, Nichols for Thompson, McMurry for Alsup.

A Bitter Rival This Week.

Next Friday the Spoofhounds will play here with Trenton, a favorite rival. The Trenton eleven numbers among its victims the teams of Gallatin and Princeton and has lost to Carrollton and Green City. Coach Roda, formerly at Savannah, is directing the destinies of the Trenton team. The game here also will have something of an internecine aspect, as Hugh Graham, Maryville line coach, has a younger brother who plays center on the Trenton eleven.

Conception College Loses to Bethany

Junior College Wins By Score Of 14-0, But Second Touchdown Is Scored On Fluke.

In a battle more of water and mud than of football, Conception College was defeated by Bethany Junior College, 14 to 0, Saturday afternoon. The game was played at Bethany. The first touchdown was made on an intercepted pass and the second was made when the Conception team thought that the time whistle had blown and a Bethany man was allowed to go through for the score, according to R. C. Green, Conception coach.

"The teams were pretty evenly matched," the coach pointed out, "in spite of the fact that the Bethany team weighed 10 or 15 pounds more to the man." The playing ability of the men also was evenly matched, Green said.

"A clean bunch of sportsmen played the game," the coach added. A return game will be played at Conception, November 5.

The line-up for Conception:
Doffing, le; Freeman, lt; Otto, lg; Andrea, c; Coppersmith, rg; Joyce, rt; Downey, re; Mossey, qb; Irl Beck, Cap., hb; Meush, hb; Carland, fb.
